

MALVERN WELLS NEWSLETTER

WEEK
02.12.2024

A note from... Mrs Alford:

As another week swiftly passes, school has been a hive of activity, brimming with learning and, unfortunately, a fair share of illness. A hearty well done to those who've bounced back after battling that nasty virus!

Our classrooms have been buzzing with excitement. We've seen Class 4 delving into the intricacies of the cardiovascular system, while Class 2 has been crafting wanted posters for the notorious Big Bad Wolf. Our youngest learners in Class 1 have been exploring real-life superheroes and investigating materials in science. The Community Club has been spreading festive cheer, designing Christmas gift bags, and we've enjoyed a dash of fun with our non-uniform days.

It's been heartwarming to witness numerous unprompted acts of kindness this week. Our children are truly embracing the spirit of thinking less about themselves and more about others. As Head teacher, I've had the joy of teaching in every class this week - a wonderful opportunity to witness first-hand the progress I so often hear about.

Mrs HC returned from her professional development trip to Coppice Primary School brimming with enthusiasm, having learned about innovative approaches to spelling beyond phonics.

Looking ahead, we've got a festive flurry of events on the horizon. Our Christmas Fayre is set for 6th December until 5.30pm, and Class 1 are off to Smart Trees. We've got an INSET day on the 13th, followed by the church Christingle at All Saints on 15th December at 4pm - a lovely chance for us to sing for our local community. Our Christmas Production is scheduled for 2pm on the 18th, and we'll be breaking up at 1:15pm on 20th December, ready to fully embrace the festive season.

CLASSROOM HIGHLIGHTS

THIS WEEK

Class 1	Some people do amazing things even though they are normal people, not fictional superheroes. We did some thinking this week and highlighted those people in our lives that were superhero's to us like our parents, guardians, nurses, post men etc. (what would we do without them)!
Class 2	Our senses have been put to good work as we use them to explore different objects and the material they are made from.
Class 3	We have used all our designer, engineering and creative skills this week constructing and decorating our light boxes!
Class 4	In preparation for next week when we will be dissecting a pig heart we have been learning about the circulatory system.
