Weekly note from Mrs Dainty...

What another exciting week at Malvern Wells! I would like to extend my sincere thanks to our dedicated staff for organising and accompanying the children on their recent visit to the Thinktank Birmingham Science Museum. The trip provided an excellent opportunity to bring science to life beyond the classroom, sparking curiosity and deepening the children's understanding through hands-on experiences. Visits such as these greatly enrich our Science Curriculum, allowing pupils to see concepts in action and make meaningful links to the topics we explore in school. We are very grateful for the support of parents in enabling these valuable experiences, which play such an important role in inspiring a love of learning and strengthening the work we do together in the classroom.

Our Forest School sessions and outdoor learning opportunities continue to bring so many benefits to the children, who are thriving in this environment. Learning outside the classroom helps to develop confidence, resilience, teamwork, and problem-solving skills, as well as providing a wonderful space for creativity and curiosity to grow. It is clear to see how much the children enjoy these sessions, with their enthusiasm shining through as they explore and learn in nature.

Classroom Highlights

Class 1, Reception:

Following on from Owl Babies, Class 1 looked at nocturnal animals today. We built dark dens to play in. We listened to each others ideas and problem solved when things went wrong.

Class 2, Y1 & Y2:

PE with Mr Tilley and the hands-on, engaging experience at the Thinktank science museum in Birmingham.

Class 3: Y3 & Y4

Class 3 were mesmerised by the workshop on Friction and Force at the ThinkTank in Birmingham.

Class 4: Y5 & Y6

This week we generated questions on deep thinking about religion/creation and science and queried if they can go together. We are looking forward to Reverend Dave answering those questions next week in our debate session.
